Research

Further education and teaching trips

In the spring of 2002 travelled as an exchange student to Hanoi in Vietnam as part of a SIDA project, and studied bamboo flute at the Conservatory for two months.

Spent a total of five weeks in Plovdiv in Bulgaria in 2004, 2005 and 2008 studying cavalry flute and Bulgarian bagpipe.

Last been there and taught at the Academy of Music Nov 2008 and spring 2015 through Erasmus exchanges.

Participated in the BIMUC music conference in Bergen, Norway, in 2008, where I lectured on the theme of university education for folk and world musicians.

Since 1998, I have participated in most of the annual conferences in Nordtrad, the Nordic network for folk music education at university level, and through this I have been able to meet many of the top practitioners both of Nordic and immigrant music in the Nordic and Baltic countries.

Participated in 2008 as a lecturer in a SIDA project in Johannesburg, South Africa, administered by the Academy of Music in Gothenburg, aimed at the training of music teachers.

Participated in April 2011 as workshop leader at a music camp in Ghana, and in January 2013 in Tanzania, organized by the global network GLOMUS.

In March 2016 I was at a composer residence at Visby international composer center. Went back again in December 2021.

In October 2017 represented the arts faculty at Lund University at the conference Include in Gävle, on diversifying recruitment for the university world.

In the summer of 2018 I participated in a songwriter camp arranged by SKAP, where one as a composer had to try to write music with other composers.

In feb 2019 I took part in the PopJazzTrad platform meeting in Trondheim in Norway, organized by the EAC network. I took part again, though digitally, in 2021
